Police Slay Farmer Who Killed Corporal TWO DEATHS IN CLASH ON FARM IN ALBERTA

Corporal M. Moriarty, Veteran of Force, Fatally Shot When Serving Summons; Posse Closes in and Farmer Is Slain

Constable With Corporal Wounded

Calgary, April 26.—After a two-hour battle with Royal Canadian Mounted Police, David Knox, a farmer of the Drumheller district, was shot and killed in a field near his home early this afternoon.

Knox, two hours before, had shot and instantly killed Corporal Michael Moriarty, a veteran member of the R.C.M.P., and wounded Constable Roy Allan. The constable's wound is not serious.

Without warning Knox opened fire on the police officers with a rifle when they went to his home, shortly before noon, to serve a summons.

BARRELS CHAINED AWAY

The summons had been issued after Knox had pointed a gun at a sheriff's bailiff who had gone to serve a summons on him. The bailiff, who was a constable, had been chained away from his farm.

CALLED HELP

The same bailiff who had been chained away from his farm, had called for help from the town, and when police approached a field, the farmer opened fire, and two hours later he was shot and killed.

The police, finally ending in the death of the farmer when a fusillade of bullets crashed through the granary.

Big Plane Tuned for Second California-Hawaii Flight

It is expected the great four-motored flying boat Pioneer will soon make its second flight from Alameda, Cal., to Pearl Harbor, near Honolulu. On Tuesday afternoon last the clipper alighted on the bay at Alameda, completing the first California-Hawaii commercial round trip in history. The flight, with a crew of six, was for the establishment of a California-Hawaii-Canton, China, passenger and mail service. When the above picture was taken the clipper was descending at Alameda.

BENNETT NOW IN ENGLAND

Premier Arrives in London; Says Election Date Not Yet Set

By THOMAS T. CHAMPTION
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Plymouth, Eng., April 26.—This famous journey was made in the liner Prinzess Alice, with Prime Minister R. B. Bennett aboard, berthed just before noon.

The Canadian Premier, while not looking exceptionally robust, appeared in good spirits when he told The Canadian Press he had had a restful voyage and already felt better for the trip.

"I must take things as quietly as I can," he said. "I shall see a specialist while in England—in fact, I always do so."

Mr. Bennett readily answered numerous questions addressed to him by a small group of newspapermen.

INFORMAL TALKS

The sole object of his visit, the Premier declared, was to attend the King's Silver Jubilee celebrations.

"But, of course," he added, "when people get together from overseas they naturally discuss their common problems. We shall talk over our difficulties with the British Premier."

Mr. Bennett said he had been told by the British Premier that the latter had been thinking of visiting Canada.

He said he had been thinking of visiting Canada.

SPARROW SETS HOUSE AFIRE

Associated Press
Council Bluffs, Iowa, April 26.—It was a fire bird, not a fable, that set ablaze the home of Mrs. Mabel Gallagher of Council Bluffs. Fire Chief J. N. Cochrane said the fire was started by a sparrow carrying a lighted cigarette into its nest in the attic.

Men Insist Grievances Be Settled Before They Return to Camps; Say Several Labor Unions Invited to Join in One-hour Strike in Vancouver Next Monday

Parent-teacher Group Urges Action

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 26.—Relief camp workers on strike have stood firm to-day in their demands that their grievances be settled before they return to the camps from which they walked out April 4, in protest against camp conditions.

Meanwhile public sympathy appeared to be developing. The strikers have announced several unions have been invited to participate in a general one-hour protest strike Monday afternoon.

Members of the executive of the General Ministerial Association of Greater Vancouver have gone on record as being in sympathy with the men, nearly 2,000 of whom left camps throughout the province, "bedding" themselves, laboring under a sense of injustice, now hungry and becoming more and more impatient.

The association has appealed to Dominion authorities to care for the physical needs of the men, pending the findings of the royal commission now investigating camp conditions.

FLEA FOR AID

A strong plea that immediate temporary relief be given the strikers is contained in a resolution passed at a conference of women representing seventy-two organizations in Vancouver.

"We believe these men to be worthy citizens only desiring of re-education," the resolution states. "The influence of the present policy is such that it imperils the welfare of all Canadian citizens."

Several unions, including the seamen's, longshoremen's and street railwaymen's, will consider the proposed one-hour sympathy strike this evening. A meeting of the strikers' action committee will be held Sunday with all sympathetic organizations invited to send delegates to discuss the proposed sympathy strike.

DISCUSSED BY STUDENTS

High school students in Vancouver will walk out Monday in sympathy with striking relief camp workers, according to the statement of the chairman of a meeting yesterday evening of the women's group of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation.

Mrs. Kerr said she had been approached by a student group, requesting to announce the students would walk out.

H. N. MacCorkindale, superintendent of Vancouver schools, said today the school board would hear nothing of such a walkout.

Lookout Man For Gamblers Heard At Vancouver Trial

"Paddy" Faulkner Witness at Hearing of Ex-Police Chief John Cameron and Others

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 26.—Testimony that Shue Moy, reputed king of Chinese gambling dens in Vancouver, now absent and unapprehended on a charge of conspiracy held jointly against six others, threatened to have police officers who watched his premises during 1933 and 1934 "shifted to the sticks" was given to-day at the continuing preliminary hearing before Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson.

George E. "Paddy" Faulkner, self-confessed "lookout man" for Shue Moy for three years, gave evidence to this effect. Under cross-examination by C. S. Arnold, counsel for John Cameron, former chief of police of Vancouver, and one of the accused, the witness denied he had ever been imprisoned in San Quentin penitentiary in California and that he had been on city relief while in the employ of Shue Moy.

Faulkner denied having approached Charlie Poy, a partner of Shue's, and asked for $500 if he (witness) would get out of Vancouver. He said Poy had approached him twice and offered him $500 to leave town.

AT OFFICE

His evidence was that Cameron had visited Shue's office three times to his knowledge. He said other officers had been there a number of times and had been drinking.

In a brief appearance on the stand, Constable Duncan Fraser swore he had told the police commission in 1933 he had not been interfered with in the performance of his duties. He reaffirmed that statement.

Inspector Charles Tuley declared during the course of his evidence that he "had reasoned with the chief and cut out the house." He said he had cut out the house.

"He said," declared Tuley, "What business is it of yours?"

"I replied, 'It will bring disgrace on us all.'"

SEEN THREE TIMES

Faulkner, in his evidence, said he saw Cameron, then chief of police, visit Shue's office at 34 Market Alley during 1934. He, the witness, was in the kitchen and saw the chief there about three times during that year. He saw Joe Celona, also accused, come there with his car on another occasion.

Shue wrapped up a couple of bottles of whisky and went away with Celona, he said.

"Shue," said the witness, "always took a couple of bottles with him."

CAPITOL FIRE LOSS $1,500,000

Oregon Officials Transact Business on Lawn of Destroyed State Building

Associated Press
Portland, Ore., April 26.—The great wide news where Oregon's sixty-year-old Capitol Building had stood, state officials met to-day and carried on the business of government following a devastating fire that had destroyed the state house and its store of official records and equipment. Origin of the fire has not been determined.

Throughout the night the flames raged uncontrolled through the three-story structure. To-day heaps of twisted metal and crushed walls alone remained. The monetary loss was estimated by the executive department at something in excess of $1,500,000, but this took on account of the priceless and irreplaceable historical documents and records which the fire consumed.

One fireman, Floyd MacCallum of Hermiston, Ore., a Willamette University student, lost his life in the conflagration. A falling cornice struck him.

INSURANCE ONLY $140,000

Theoretically the state carries its own insurance in a "restoration fund," but it contained only $140,000. The old Capitol Building, which contained the main departmental offices, the executive offices and the Senate and House chambers, cost $700,000.

Replacement costs of the historic structure were merely matters of conjecture.

TEMPORARILY MOVED

To-day Oregon's state departments were scattered over Salem's entire business section. The secretary of state's office was established temporarily at the armory, where most of the salvaged records and equipment from the ground floor of the building were taken. The state treasury will be at the Ladd and Bush Bank, where some $15,000,000 bonds (Turn to Page 2, Col. 6)

British Freighter Titan Damaged 150 Miles From Newfoundland; Ice-breaker Rushes to Break Lane

Canadian Press
St. John's, Nfld., April 26.—My steam body damaged in a heavy ice field 150 miles from Newfoundland, the British steamship Titan reported she needed immediate assistance from an icebreaker to-day. The sailing ship Imogen, commanded by Captain W. K. Koen, was rushing under full steam towards the scene from this port.

The message received here indicated the ice-locked Titan, 4,900 tons, had been seriously damaged in other parts of the hull and probably could only be assisted by an ice-breaker.

It was estimated the Imogen would require from five to fifteen hours to reach the scene.

WANTS LANE BROKEN

Word of the Titan's mishap was received by Lloyd's here, and in absence of any general call for assistance or a further message she was believed to be in no immediate danger. Mariners thought she might escape further damage by not attempting to buck the ice until a lane is broken through the field. The Imogen, like most of the other seafarers, is constructed for icebreaking.

The Titan's plight recalled that, coming from her home port, Newcastle, Eng.

THE TITAN RECALLED

The Titan's plight recalled that less than two weeks have elapsed since the twenty-third anniversary of the Titanic disaster 12 miles off Halifax, when the liner sank after striking an iceberg and 1,600 lives were lost.

JAM SCHEME APPLIES HERE

Marketing Board Will Handle Output of Three Provinces; Effective May 2

The new marketing scheme for manufactured jams, jellies and marmalades will become applicable in British Columbia on May 2. It was announced at the Parliament Buildings this morning after the provincial government agreed to endorse the plan provincially.

This will be the first time a B.C. industry has been put under marketing control, which applies to similar industries in other provinces. Both Quebec and Ontario come under the same scheme, which was initiated through the federal marketing board.

Of fourteen members on the jam board B.C. has four representatives: H. C. Oldfield of Victoria, Charles D. Hunter and W. J. West of Vancouver and T. B. Shimek of Hatzet.

While somewhat hesitant about rushing ahead quickly with marketing control, which may mean increased prices for consumers, the provincial authorities see in the jam scheme a chance to eliminate serious competition between eastern manufacturers and B.C., which was almost ruinous.

B.C. has been unable to meet the dumping of eastern jams and jellies on the local market. It was explained, with sales from both the east and west regulated by one board this trouble may be overcome.

Maritime Federation Makes Declaration When Efforts to End Oil Tanker Dispute Fails

Associated Press
San Francisco, April 26.—A tense atmosphere of the bitter days of last summer's maritime strike gripped U.S. Pacific Coast waterfronts to-day as the dispute between striking oil tanker sailors and tanker operators threatened to spread into a general walk-out.

Efforts at peaceful settlement of the six-week-old tanker strike broke down yesterday when Albert A. Rosenshine, chairman of a government mediation board, informed Secretary of Labor Perkins it was impossible to bring the employers and employees into agreement.

Although the mediation board asked for further instructions, it expressed the conviction further attempts on its part to effect an amicable settlement would be futile.

SUPPORT PLEDGED

The newly formed Maritime Federation of the Pacific announced in Seattle it would support the tanker strike, intimating such support would be given even to the extent of a general strike vote.

The situation appeared more precarious than ever to-day, for to-night is the deadline the operators recently set in an ultimatum for the 15,000 striking seamen, mariners, pilots and engine-room workers and radio operators to end the dispute.

SHORTER WEEK

The strike started with a demand by seamen for preferential hiring of union members. This request was dropped later and in its stead the strikers demanded a forty-four-hour week to replace the present fifty-six-hour week. They also asked recognition of union strikers.

The operators replied, giving their ultimatum, that they would re-employ the strikers as vacancies occurred, but they would not discharge non-union men who had gone to work since the strike started.

Plea Made for Condemned Man

Associated Press
Jefferson City, Mo., April 26.—Miss Mary McKelvey pleaded with Governor Guy B. Park to-day to spare the life of Walter R. McGee, leader of the gang that kidnapped her for $25,000 ransom nearly two years ago. She is under sentence to die May 15.

"In pleading for Walter McGee's life, I am pleading for my own peace of mind," said the tall brunette in her formal appeal to the governor.

She asked commutation to life imprisonment.

B.C. Relief Rolls Decline In March

Unusual Drop Recorded in Number Receiving Aid; Total Now Is 12 Per Cent Less Than Last Year

For the first time since the depression started, British Columbia relief rolls this year showed a drop between February and March.

Relief authorities admitted they were surprised this morning when the totals for March were completed, revealing a decline in the aggregate number dependent upon relief of about 2 per cent from the previous month.

Total of all cases from March was 102,083 compared with 104,719 in February. The aggregate included 20,195 heads of families, 58,506 dependents, 15,514 single persons and 7,868 men in relief camps.

In former years relief rolls have always been at their peak in March. Last year the increase between the two months was roughly 2,000 in the total. This year the drop was more than 2,500, leaving a net gain of 4,000.

Off hand, the authorities surmised the unusual decrease to three reasons.

First was general improvement in business and employment conditions, especially in the mining industry.

On top of this, logging camps opened up in March after an enforced shutdown. The third factor was that in February the province gave relief to Formal adoption of a comprehensive health commission was moved by Hon. J. A. Faulkner of Ontario and seconded by Hon. P. R. Davis of Nova Scotia.

Man Is Facing Charge of Theft

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 26.—William Macgregor, fifty-five, Gibson's Landing, B.C., was remanded for a week by Magistrate C. L. Fillmore in district police court to-day on a charge of theft of several hundred dollars' worth of articles looted from Horie Sound summer home. Macgregor was arrested by provincial police on Thursday after the allegedly stolen property had been found in his house at Gibson's Landing and carried in a nearby bush.

Baby Fox Is Fed By Cats

Cub, Abandoned by its Mother, Is Accepted in Feline Litters at Langford Farmhouse

Abandoned by its mother on a farm at Langford, a baby fox is being reared at the farmhouse of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Lock.

The baby fox, shivering with cold and on the point of death, was taken into the house wrapped in blankets and fed with milk from an eye-dropper.

It was then given over to the care of a cat with one kitten, and the cat accepted the strange addition and mothered it. After the little fox had gained strength, it began to whimper pitifully and its appetite was appeased with milk which it lapped from a saucer.

When the fox was two weeks old another cat had a litter of kittens, and the eye now gets nourishment from the fox's cat.

ENGINE TROUBLE SPOILS FLIGHT

Marquette, April 26.—"I am actually disappointed with my bad luck," said Joe Bailey, the young aviator, en route from Australia to London.

She was unable to leave Marquette to-day because of engine trouble, his plane having been damaged by a propeller. Bailey, who had arrived here, still had a slight chance to set a new women's record for a solo flight from Australia to England, but the motor trouble spoiled the attempt.

COMPANY TAX LOAD SCORED

Criticism of Canadian Levies Heard at Hudson's Bay Meeting in London

London, April 25.—The Canadian Press critic at the meeting of the Hudson's Bay Company spoke of the company's tax burden as a "burden" and a "load" on the company's profits. The company's tax burden was estimated at $1,000,000 a year.

One critic suggested the government might have approved a "tax" on the company's profits. The company's tax burden was estimated at $1,000,000 a year.

Another shareholder said he had known the government for many years, and if any person thought he would pay a man $1,000 if he were worth only $400, they were "very rich."

Increasing collection of tax, improved trading at the post, and greater efficiency within the stores, enabled the Hudson's Bay Company to increase its net profit in 1934 by $62,305. Net profit for 1933 was $129,432 and for 1934, $159,137.

NO DIVIDEND
In his report to the shareholders at the annual general court, Governor Cooper declared there would be no dividend. The last company dividend was in June, 1930.

Grave and perplexing problems in Canada awaited solution and needed a vigorous attack, he said.

"At the same time one cannot but realize Canada has a vitality and elasticity which are of enormous importance and value, and provided the world in general is not faced with any more serious upheavals, I have great hopes Canada will move steadily forward."

FUR TRADE
The fur trade department reported greater collections of fur during the year and increased trading, but owing to exchange and import restrictions the fur sales had been unsatisfactory. The company had decided to extend the maintenance of beaver preserves and would develop its own fur farms.

STORE OPERATIONS
The retail stores department showed an increased profit, largely due to greater efficiency within the store organization," said the report.

Praise was given the work of F. P. Martin, general manager of that department, appointed during the year.

The company's last department produced a small surplus after several years of losses and the governor expressed pleasure at the fact that the company was now in a position to report a profit.

Sir Albert had a distinguished career in the Canadian militia. Joining the 10th Royal Grenadiers as second lieutenant in 1898, he was promoted through the various offices until he became a major in 1907. The following year he was in command of the regiment at the Quebec Tercentenary celebrations.

One of his best known philanthropic gestures was the establishment of the North Toronto as an institution for the care of children predisposed to tuberculosis. The Preventorium was founded in 1907.

He was also a member of the Toronto University of the Anti-Toxin Club, consisting of fifty acres, with stables, laboratories and animal houses, which he had acquired during the last two years of the Great War.

During the war he placed his farm at the disposal of the British Government, the distilling plant of Goodfellow and Worts, converted for the manufacture of acetone, used as a solvent in the production of cordite.

That plant produced three-quarters of the acetone made in Canada, which in turn was three-quarters of all in the empire.

Philanthropist Called by Death

Sir Albert Goodfellow, Capitalist of Wide Interests, Passes Away

Toronto, April 25.—Col. Sir Albert Edward Goodfellow, leading Canadian distiller, financier, patron of the arts, philanthropist, and yeoman, died at his home, "Dunrobin," in Rosedale, Toronto, yesterday evening. He was seventy-three years old.

Sir Albert, who was knighted in the King's 1925 honors list in recognition of his services to the city, the University of Toronto, and the empire generally, became ill last Saturday evening, Septic throat trouble developed into pneumonia of a grave type. Yesterday evening he lapsed into unconsciousness, and died with all the members of his family around him.

The funeral will be held on Sunday morning at St. James' Anglican Church and interment in the family plot in St. James' Cemetery.

Son of the late Goodfellow and Worts Ltd. distillers, he was born in Toronto, June 2, 1861. He received his education at the University of Toronto and the University of London.

He was a member of the board of governors of the University of Toronto, president of the Toronto Symphony Orchestra Association, and chairman of the Committee of Connaught Laboratories.

Lookout Man for Gamblers Heard at Vancouver Trial

AT THREE "JOINTS"
Paulkner declared that on one occasion he had seen Inspector Tuohy sitting in a room with three men, who were gambling. He had a book in his hand. Witness reported this to the police station. He had asked for Chief Cameron, then Deputy Chief Murdoch. Shue had said in the telephone conversation, "Tuley is watching the land. Try and find out what he is doing."

Shue then remarked to the witness, "That was Tuley. He'll be near, that is the sticks to-morrow." Witness said he knew Constable John "Frenchy" Bloudeau and had overheard him say outside one of the "joints" that the joints are run-down again. I closed them before and I'll close them again." He reported that remark to Shue. He got him out of there. He never saw Bloudeau around there again.

Paulkner swore that during 1934 he had sat in Shue's office. He had heard Shue complain that Detective Fink was "pinching" too many times and we weren't making expenses there.

Charged with Cameron and Joe Celona are Lou Barrack, Eugene Valenti, Joe Alvarez, Joe Swartz and Wally Cole. The allegations are conspiracy to obstruct justice.

The hearing was featured by prosecution charges that two witnesses had changed their testimony on the stand and a remark by Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson that the evidence of another witness appeared to have no connection with the case.

City Prosecutor Oscar Orr disputed testimony of Detective Charles Graham, veteran of twenty-five years' service on the Vancouver police force.

Graham testified that when he had been put on the dry squad last year Cameron had said: "I hope you make something of yourself."

The prosecution contended that in a preliminary statement the witness had said "for yourself."

The prosecution failed to get Chow Lum, who was one of the men employed by Cameron on his Port Henry ranch, to admit the then chief had sent him to Shue. May—an accused not apprehended—to collect wages as contained in a statement made before the preliminary hearing. Chow swore yesterday that he had been paid personally by Cameron.

Constable Fred Richardson testified yesterday that he had worked for three weeks on the erection of a small building on Cameron's Port Henry ranch last year. He was not on holidays at the time, he said, and his pay as a police officer had gone on.

"I do not see this has any connection with the conspiracy," said Magistrate Matheson.

A few personal effects and records from Governor Martin's office, and a brief case an Associated Press staff writer snatched from the press room were the only articles saved from the second floor.

City and state fire officials to-day began an investigation of the fire, which originated in the basement, started by the elevator shaft, spread through the returns and caused the 107-foot dome to collapse a little more than an hour after the fire started at about 6:30 p.m.

When the dome fell into the interior, showers of sparks threatened the Williams University buildings on the other side and large city residences on the other. Fire fighters trained the stream of water on the roofs of the

British Premier Faces Attack in Commons for Blunt Criticism of Germany

Associated Press
London, April 26.—The British cabinet will be subjected to fire from two sides in the House of Commons next week when Labor Party members make an attack on Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald for his criticism of Germany and the "big air corps" group demands a faster expansion of the Royal Air Force.

The Laborites have decided to make Mr. MacDonald's article in his "Nation" Labor Magazine, "The News Letter," the basis for much of their attack on the government's foreign policy, claiming the article is unnecessarily making the situation on the Continent much more tense.

AIR PROGRAMMES
The members of the cabinet are known to be greatly concerned over Germany's future air programme, but they are said to feel the present expansion plans are sufficient for the time being, although a faster expansion may be necessary in the future to keep pace with Germany.

PROTESTS HEARD
Mr. MacDonald's blunt attack on Germany's foreign policy, published yesterday, took political circles by surprise, but opposition parties responded with a storm of protest.

Mr. Hon. George Lansbury, Labor leader and one-time colleague of Mr. MacDonald, led the Socialist and Liberal groups in deploring the Prime Minister's statement that the German attitude threatened the outlook for continued peace in Europe.

"I very much regret the Prime Minister should have written such an article," Mr. Lansbury said. "There are days when we should be damping down instead of stimulating antagonisms."

DECLARED INFORTUNE
The London News-Chronicle, recording the Liberal view, said: "We all know by now that Prime Minister MacDonald's article in his 'Nation' magazine is a masterpiece of understatement. It is a masterpiece of understatement."

The London Daily Herald, Labor said that in the present circumstances it would be unwise "to keep silent while the Germans think."

The Herald protested Mr. MacDonald's statement that Germany's military expansion "must inevitably focus the mind and pacify the feelings of general

Empire Leaders Are Assembling

Premiers and Others Nearing London: Will Attend
King's Jubilee Events

Canadian Press
London, April 25.—Leaders of many governments in the British Commonwealth of Nations are gathering here to present the respects of the King on the Silver Jubilee of his accession to the throne.

The prime ministers of the four self-governing Dominions are coming to London with the affirmation of the loyalty of their respective peoples.

St. Hon. R. B. Bennett of Canada, who arrived yesterday, leads the contingent from overseas.

St. Hon. J. B. Hertzog, Boer War enemy of the British thirty years ago, will speak for the Union of South Africa.

St. Hon. Joseph A. Lyons, another coalition leader, is coming from Australia, while St. Hon. George W. Forbes is bringing the message of the far-distant Dominion, New Zealand.

President Ramon de Valera, who still hopes to see a united Ireland independent of the United Kingdom, has delegated his high commissioner in London to represent the Irish Free State.

Newfoundland, temporarily yielding Dominion status under financial storms, has its representatives from the commission government.

FROM INDIA
The Indian Empire, including British India and the native states, is making the jubilee a special occasion, for it is now taking another long stride towards its eventual goal of equality with the great self-governing Dominions.

Many princes of India and other high rulers are attending to give their fealty to the Emperor of India.

On May 6, actual anniversary of the accession, the empire leaders will attend the jubilee service at St. Paul's Cathedral, to be followed by the state banquet at Buckingham Palace.

The chief event for the representatives from overseas, however, will come two days later, when they will be received by His Majesty at St. James's Palace and will formally present the addresses of loyalty ratified by the respective parliaments and legislatures. The presentation of the United Kingdom addresses will be made on the following day.

Canadian Press from Haves
Bombay, April 25.—The National Congress Party yesterday adopted a resolution to maintain a "passive attitude" and refrain from active propaganda against the King's Silver Jubilee celebration being held in connection with the twenty-fifth anniversary of His Majesty's coronation.

June Robles Says in Arizona
She Could Not Now
Identify Abductors

Associated Press
Tucson, Ariz., April 25.—While Department of Justice agents redouble their efforts to solve the June Robles kidnapping, the little Tucson girl stood on the spot where she was seized exactly a year ago and declared she would not now be able to identify her abductors.

"Don't you remember what the man looked like—the man who took you away in the car?" June was asked yesterday.

"I wouldn't know him now," she replied.

Reports were circulated to-day that investigators, admittedly baffled, would call in every person thus far connected with the investigation and ask all to appear before the federal grand jury here next week in the hope of uncovering new evidence.

There also were rumors that progress had been made in the case recently. However, one officer who did not want his name used said the evidence appeared insufficient thus far to make further arrests.

SAYS BENNETT
NOT RETIRING

Minister of Trade States He
Will Continue to Lead
Conservative Party

Canadian Press
Calgary, April 25.—Premier R. B. Bennett will continue to lead the Conservative Party, Hon. R. B. Hanson, Minister of Trade and Commerce, said in an address here yesterday evening.

Speaking to 1,200 persons of the constituency the Prime Minister represents in the House of Commons, Mr. Hanson said primary producers should vote to return the present Conservative Government because Mr. Bennett had established the wheat market and given them a say in marketing of their product.

In an address to a service club at noon yesterday Mr. Hanson said "controlled capitalism," recognizing the rights of both individuals and capital, was the best solution for present problems.

"He declared it was admitted the economic system to-day was not in the best condition. The capitalist system, however, was the oldest in history and had endured because it was the best system, he believed. It had been subjected to abuses, but was still the most efficient.

Communism was repugnant to Anglo-Saxons, he declared, but he could see no reason why some of the ideas of socialism might not be adopted.

No Confiscation By Social Creditors

Canadian Press
Edmonton, April 25.—Social Credit will be paid and there will be no confiscation of savings if the Alberta Social Credit Party is successful at the provincial general election, William Abernethy of Calgary, founder and leader of the league, told delegates to the Northern Alberta League convention yesterday evening.

Mr. Abernethy said he had been informed some persons were sending their savings outside of the province to other banks "because social credit is coming."

The address ended the two-day meeting.

FORMER REEVE IS CONVICTED

William B. Russell Found Guilty of Theft
in Vancouver

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 25.—An assize court jury yesterday convicted William Brown Russell, sixty-two, contractor and former reeve of South Vancouver, on a charge of theft of partnership machinery, valued at $1,000.

The jury added a strong recommendation for mercy and Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald said he would take it into consideration when pronouncing sentence at the end of the assizes.

In a Supreme Court judgment four years ago, Mr. Justice Dennis Murphy found Russell had been a partner of John Howard Fosselle, boilermaker, and at Fosselle's suit, ordered a division of the partnership assets and an accounting before the registrar.

The registrar found various pieces of machinery and a motor truck, valued at $1,000, were part of the partnership. When Fosselle proceeded to enforce judgment he was told by Russell the machinery and truck had been either stolen or sold.

ONTARIO WILL TAX WINERIES

Five Per Cent Levy on Gross
Sales to Be Enforced

Canadian Press
Toronto, April 25.—Effective June 1, the Ontario government will collect a tax of 5 per cent on gross sales of all wineries operating in the province.

A conference between thirty-six wine manufacturers and Chairman E. G. Odette of the Ontario Liquor Control Board reached an agreement on the tax yesterday afternoon.

On the same date as the tax goes into effect, containers in which Ontario wines are sold will be standardized.

The authority for taxing wines was granted in amendments to the Liquor Control Act which were passed at the last session of Legislature.

Each wine manufacturer is allowed one retail outlet. It is the opinion of the Liquor Control Board that these retail stores, wherever situated, are to some degree competitors with the government stores, and, as such, should be taxed.

Socialization Plans Debated

C. R. Attles Tells of Policies
Labor Hopes to Work Out in Britain

By GEORGE HAMILTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, April 25.—Clement Richard Attles, one of the foremost labor party members in Parliament, and the veteran St. Hon. Arthur Henderson, former head of the party, in books published yesterday discuss labor's policy for the future.

In "The Will and the Way to Socialism" Mr. Attles foresees a socialized state. If labor comes into office, he says it will "socialize the Bank of England and the joint stock banks, and such other financial institutions as may seem desirable."

A national investments board would be established to provide long term credit for industry and to control foreign loans. The socialist government would pass an enabling act "giving the state power to acquire all land, urban or rural, at any time on a definite basis of compensation."

Agricultural marketing schemes would be extended. A national agricultural commission would operate county agricultural committees.

NATIONALIZED RAILWAYS
A national transport board would immediately take over the railways.

Labor would not seek to retain by force a Dominion which desired to leave the Commonwealth, but would do everything possible to induce it to remain within a large unity, he adds.

PEACE ACT
In "Labor's Will to Peace," Mr. Henderson, who relinquished the party leadership after Labor's defeat in 1931, and has since concentrated his efforts on the Disarmament Conference, of which he is chairman, declares one early action of any future labor government would be to pass "a peace act of parliament" which would bind the government to submit any dispute with any state, to "one of the methods of peaceful settlement prescribed in the treaties to which we are a party, and never to resort to force in contravention of these treaties."

Germany's Bauxite
Imports Reduced

Associated Press
Berlin, April 25.—A French decision to forbid exports of bauxite, raw material from which aluminum is made, served to-day to emphasize difficulties the Nazis are having in their efforts for military self-sufficiency.

France's ban on bauxite shipments, newspapers and experts pointed out, must seriously hamper the self-sufficiency programme since Germany, producing no bauxite herself, has been buying half her supply of the material from France.

CONSTITUTION IS APPROVED

B.C. Parent-teacher Association Has Lively Session

Canadian Press
Vancouver, April 25.—By a vote of 190 to 78, recorded after a stormy session, the B.C. Parent-teacher convention yesterday approved of a new constitution and a charter granted by the provincial government.

The new constitution makes individual parent-teacher bodies directly responsible to the provincial executive and not, as formerly, affiliated with district federations. Opposition to the change came mainly from Vancouver delegates.

At times during the discussions speakers charged the committee which brought in the report with "bitter tactics" and "imitating Sir Oswald Mosley," and the chairman had difficulty in maintaining order.

THOSE POWER CONTRACTS

CANADA'S CREDIT AND ONTARIO'S power contract controversy still seem to be topics for lively discussion in a small section of the British press. Our good name is threatened with discredit in Great Britain, some newspapers are saying, while one tells us that "Canadian financial institutions and other business organizations have been doing a large business in this country (Britain) each year, and they too are dependent on the confidence of the people of this country (Britain) in the integrity of Canada and Canadians... therefore, when this goodwill is threatened it is a serious matter."

Canada's Weekly, a journal published in London, England, devoted to the discussion of Canadian affairs, seems to be unusually disturbed, and while it declares that where political questions are concerned it endeavors to show impartiality, it follows with the statement that "when Canada's 'good name' is threatened with discredit in the Mother Country we can not let the matter pass." It asserts that Mr. Hepburn's proposals in respect of the power contracts have received wide publicity in Great Britain, and "the effect of this has unfortunately been distinctly unfavorable to Canada." This journal concludes its comment with the suggestion that if Mr. Hepburn himself does not do anything, "it may be desirable for political considerations to be put aside and for the Dominion Government to take such steps as will remove from the minds of the people of the Mother Country the grave doubts that have thus been raised."

The observations of Canada's Weekly and other journals in Britain which have taken the trouble to comment on this power contract question might convey the impression that practically the whole of the bonds involved were held in Great Britain. This is far from the case. Out of more than $782,000,000 worth of securities directly or indirectly affected by the Ontario legislation only a little more than $6,500,000 are held in the United Kingdom. These are the Ontario government unguaranteed bonds totaling $3,497,772, and those of the Beauharnois and MacLaren Quebec amounting to $3,075,000.

The facts show, however, that of the total, $482,890,572 worth of these bonds are held in Canada, while the balance, amounting to $281,627,065, are held in the United States. It would appear, therefore, that the protests from certain quarters in Great Britain are much ado about relatively little. But when Canada's Weekly suggests that it may be advisable to put political considerations on one side, it becomes unconsciously humorous. Does it really believe that some of the comment in Britain in connection with this matter has been remote from political manoeuvre? For further particulars, apply Canada House, Hon. Howard Ferguson's quarters. Mr. Ferguson, incidentally, was Premier of Ontario when some of the contracts with the Quebec companies were agreed to by the Ontario Power Commission, under which the people of Ontario were saddled with a liability of millions on account of power which they do not require. This is the real issue involved.

After all, the first duty of the Ontario government is to the people of that province, just as other governments in recent years have based their courses upon the interests of their own people, even to the point of defaulting on their international liabilities. There is, however, a difference. Mr. Hepburn, having taken steps to wipe the slate clean on grounds which he can easily justify, has given notice that he will be prepared to negotiate with the bondholders affected by his legislation in order that they may obtain such readjustment as may fit the circumstances. In the case of those governments which have defaulted in the international realm, they, too, have wiped the slate clean, but so clean that an invitation to consider a revision of the whole debt situation—issued by the chief creditor nation—if not irrevocably turned down, so far, has been ignored.

THE PRESIDENT GOES AHEAD

CRITICS OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S $4,880,000,000 work-relief programme continue to predict all sorts of dire things for the future as a result of the large increase in the national debt which this expenditure will mean. But the President and those who are solidly behind him do not seem to be the least bit perturbed. They naturally realize that the government can not contemplate with equanimity an idle army of 10,000,000 and 20,000,000 drawing relief in one form or another.

The critics, however, do not appear to be on sound ground when they quite openly advocate the dose in its worst form—such, for example, as we have it in Canada. They argue that gifts of cash and food, and other forms of direct relief, would be much cheaper in the long run, than this large expenditure on work-relief will only stimulate business artificially and temporarily. They do not seem to take into account the effect their form of relief, which is relief without work, must have upon the morale of those in receipt of it. And what a future there would have been a year or so ago if anything like this had been suggested for the United States. The "dole" in Britain was referred to as something to be avoided like the plague. No trouble was taken to understand Britain's policy. That "dole" is a self-supporting one, and under its operation a serious social revolution was avoided.

While the critics of the President's expenditure bill are numerous, however, a great many American businessmen are saying that for the original Roosevelt objective—of giving every unemployed but employable person a job—it is not big enough. That original programme, of course, has undergone many changes. This new one now is going to get its trial.

Business Week, a well-known New York financial journal, gives it as its considered opinion that "much of the money will be spent in ways that will be very helpful to business."

WILL BE DOCTOR BABCOCK

IN CONFERRING THE HONORARY

Doctor of Laws degree on Mr. J. P. Babcock at its annual congregation on May 9, the University of British Columbia will honor itself no less than it will the recipient of the distinction. For more than thirty years Mr. Babcock, as the actual head of the department charged with the direction of the province's interest in Canada's fisheries, rendered distinguished service to the country. In that capacity he became a figure of international importance, and no commission representing this Dominion and the United States appointed to enforce measures of fishery protection agreed to by treaty has been regarded as complete without him. In fact, for years he has been chairman of the joint international fisheries commission, which in itself reflects the confidence of both Washington and Ottawa in his ability, integrity, and knowledge of his subject. In the drafting of treaties, particularly those which related to the fisheries of the Pacific Coast, he has been a determining factor, while his fine qualities of mind and person have made him an ideal negotiator.

In honoring Mr. Babcock the University of British Columbia also will exhibit signal recognition of the public service of the province, which includes many able, devoted officers whose work has exercised an important influence not confined within provincial boundaries. There will be, therefore, much more significance in the ceremonial of which the former Assistant Commissioner of Fisheries will be the centre than there often is in the bestowal of this distinction upon some high dignitary who is honored not so much for the services he has rendered as for the eminent office he may occupy. Mr. Babcock will become Doctor Babcock without any reservations, and the University is to be congratulated upon effecting the transformation.

MR. REID IS OPTIMISTIC

PREDICTING A SWEEPING LIBERAL victory at the general elections and hopeful in that event that it will mean a reduction in the freight rates on domestic grain from the prairies to British Columbia, Mr. Thomas Reid, Liberal member for New Westminster, has returned to the coast for the parliamentary recess period.

Mr. Reid bases his belief that a Liberal government will do something in the matter of domestic grain freight rates, the reduction of which he has been pressing for years, on the fact that for the first time the principles embodied in his bill, recently defeated in the House of Commons, had the full support of the party led by Mr. Mackenzie King.

At present the rate charged on grain from the prairies for use in British Columbia is forty-one cents per hundred pounds, while the export rate is only twenty cents per hundred pounds. According to Mr. Reid's computation, by cutting the rate in half a saving to British Columbia farmers in feed costs would amount to $1,000,000 a year.

The fight which has been persistently waged over the reduction of the domestic and export freight rates on feed grain has been a long and arduous one, but Mr. Reid, supported, incidentally, by Mr. J. H. Barber, Conservative member for Fraser Valley—success has yet to be won. With a change of government there will be hope.

A POINTED QUESTION

"AFTER SCHOOL, WHAT?" THIS IS A question one of the speakers asked this week at the meeting of a parent-teacher body in Vancouver. It was a practical woman who asked it. She pointed out that from Canada's schools every year are pouring 150,000 boys and girls, and that for these young Canadians there are no jobs to-day.

It does not follow, of course, that none of these young people will find employment to which they can apply the training which has been given to them in the classroom; we do not expect to remain indefinitely in our present economic state. But at the present time the melancholy fact has to be faced that in hundreds of instances the schoolroom is leading to the street corner and the relief camps.

Good citizenship is the basic objective of our educational system—the training of the country's youth so that it will be able to take its place in ordered society and make a decent living. If, however, youth has nothing to look forward to save dependence from what it can collect for subsistence from a relief officer we are merely preparing a foundation without preparing for the superstructure.

As we have pointed out many times in these columns, there should be no fear for the future of this young country if only the proper leadership shall be given, but it will have to be vastly different leadership from that we have seen in the last few years.

Good Canadian citizens will not be produced in relief camps. It may well be asked, "After School, what?"

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THOSE TALKABLE CHARGES
The London Free Press

Do you remember the terrible charges made by Hon. Mitchell F. Hepburn in the midst of the elections in regard to liquor toll-gates? An inquiry was held and what became of the inquiry—nothing. The charges were just extravagant statements.

A NATURAL PLEA
The Ottawa Journal

This generation, and past generations, made many mistakes. But not all they did was wrong, so many of our youngsters keep telling us. In all the long centuries of experience something must have emerged during some small way of respect. So we could wish that our young Strachays would be less censorious, a little less censorious. They might, too, be a little less intolerant, less disposed to dismiss as merely ignorant, or malicious or pathetic those of us who dare to differ with them, or to doubt their infallibility.

A THOUGHT

God is my strength and power; and I'm making my way perfect.—St. Bernard xviii 7.
When I'm called to be faithful to their God, he who expects to find them so to each other will be much disappointed.—Bishop Horne.

Loose Ends

We ride down to the sea in style—on the hurricane deck of a logging locomotive—like a forest that is going out into the world—and to walk across the ocean, or a considerable part of it—in a cabbed boat.

By BRUCE HUTCHINSON

PLEASURE TRIP

ON THE WHOLE, I think I have travelled on more comfortable conveyances than a logging train, but none half so exciting. The locomotive is running backwards now, tender in front, and as we sit up on top of it, high above the tracks, we get the full benefit of the icy spring rain with occasional puffs of smoke. The cupola of the caboose, half a mile back, is more sheltered but it has a nasty sort of sway which will pitch you down to the floor ten feet below if you don't know how to ride the little iron stool.

But this is no pleasure trip. This is the grim business of taking the logs down to the sea, hundreds of them on these sixty-two flat cars, $3,000 worth at least, even at the present low prices. They can stand of us for two miles, a horse makes over half a mile long.

It is a pretty big train, says Pete Harnabour, but he has seen many bigger—Pete Harnabour, the tremendous little Basque who is boss of these woods. Pete should know, for he has been logging here nearly thirty years. He has seen the buckers and fallers move from the Coast thirty miles inland, cutting the forest down as they went. He has seen new trees thirty feet high spring up where the buckers and fallers worked in the first year of the war. He has seen his own boy, born to logging, grow up here since they started cutting, to the stature of a full-fledged logger, one of the hard island breed. And a logger, mark you, never varies his private opinion that none but the best and strongest men are real loggers, that the cream of strong men's work is in these Coast woods.

Pete has taken out billions of feet of timber, packed it, loaded it, shipped it down to the sea, and he expects to take out many billions more—a far cry from that little country of his warrior fathers in the Pyrenees. And after Pete has gone, young Harnabour will still be working in these woods that sweep out into the heart of the island, into the great treasure world of the immortal Mike King. The world is waiting for timber, and the logs must roll down to the sea.

But they cannot move yet. On board the stout sea-going tug Le Roi, Captain Jones, the dean of tugboat skippers, tells us there is a dire weather outside. It looks fine from here and in the old days the tug would have been out there, but now it is too bad. Out past the Point where the hermits live; out there among the islands we find a sheltered cove where the logs are waiting—acres of them beside the shore, boom after boom, held tight together with sixty-six-foot swivels. The logs are waiting for the tug to come, ready for their long trip over to the mainland.

What's Your Answer to These Questions?

1. In what can you invest your money, except life insurance, with absolute confidence that it will bring you a guaranteed income upon which to retire, say 10, 20 or 30 years hence?
2. What asset, outside of life insurance, can you depend upon to furnish funds for the continued support of your family in case of your death?

Consider these questions... unless you are fully insured.

London Life "complete protection" policies meet both these needs at the same time—protection for your family if you should not live and money to retire if you do live. To these can be added Total Disability Insurance to provide for you in case of prolonged disability from either sickness or accident.

Ask any London Life representative for particulars about a "complete protection" policy, or write to the Branch Office.

Greek Royalists Meeting in Paris

Group Leaders Talk With Ex-King as He Passes on Way to London

Paris, April 26.—Former King George II of Greece was hailed by Royalists as he passed through Paris today en route to London, but declined to comment on a published report that he was seriously considering an invitation to return to his throne.

Thirty Royalist leaders gathered at the station when their former monarch, who had just returned from a tour of India, departed on the noon express in the company of his secretary and a valet.

The Royalists said their meeting in Paris was for the purpose of organizing plans for a restoration, should the monarchists gain a majority in the Greek elections, May 19.

"Royalists and former government officials," said Arturo Comnatos, leader of the group, "met and talked over the political situation and laid plans to form a government such as Great Britain now has should the elections return a Royalist majority. We are just like any other political party and are now laying our plans."

Naturally we told the king of our plans, but naturally he also made no comment now.

French officials see no likelihood of international complications if the monarchy is re-established.

It was reported when the ex-king and his advisers reached London, they planned to confer with Greek financiers. The former monarch is a second cousin of Princess Marina, bride of the Duke of Kent.

25 YEARS A NERVE PRISONER IN HER OWN HOUSE

Twenty-five years on the rack—almost out of her mind with nerves—her ailment mocking all treatment—days and nights continually harassed!

Now read her letter:

"After my serious illness, my nerves got in a terrible state. I could not walk even to the top of our street. But now I am thankful to say, after taking Phosferine, I can go out alone without being upset, or even a bit nervous. And when I meet my friends, they are all surprised at seeing me out alone after being such an invalid in the house for over twenty-five years. It seems a new life to me, and I only regret I did not try Phosferine years ago, as I am sure I look and feel a new woman."

NOT FOR LOCAL DOG SHOW

Although many interesting entries are promised for the show which the Victoria Kennel Club and the Jubilee Mounted Junior W.A. will stage at the Willows on May 12, none will equal Kay of Crest, the Pyrenean mountain dog. His proud owner, Mrs. Harper Trevelyan, of Mount Park, Bedfordshire, England, says he is just a puppy yet and hasn't attained his full growth. Nevertheless he is already over a foot long and considered the largest dog in the world.

maternal welfare of their patients, but their spiritual welfare. The success of their efforts would depend largely upon their own character, and he urged them to be faithful to the noble ideals of their profession. Will power and this must not be confused with the "many cheap imitations to-day," such as stubbornness. Kindness of heart and absolute trustworthiness were also essential qualities in the good nurse, the Bishop observed.

ARCHBISHOP SPEAKS
Most Rev. Archbishop O'Leary of Edmonton, who has been a patient in St. Joseph's Hospital for the last two months, took the opportunity of expressing his heartfelt gratitude to the Sisters of St. Ann and the nursing staff of St. Joseph's for their patience, wonderful devotion and kindness. "It is my sincere prayer," he said, "that your lives may be fruitful and happy and that St. Joseph's Hospital may continue through the ages doing its glorious work of healing and helping mankind."

The attractive musical programme included vocal solos by Miss Phyllis Deville, Mr. Fraser Lister and Mr. Frank Smedley, Mrs. Clifford Warr and Miss Allan, showing the role of accompaniment. The soloists were Mr. Vincent McKenna, Mr. Douglas Hunter and Mr. Victor Montaldi.

After the ceremony, the graduates and their friends repaired to St. Joseph's Hospital, where refreshments were served in the recreation room which was beautifully decorated with red and white streamers and baskets of pear blossoms and spring flowers.

Canadian Press
New York, April 26.—Seven-year-old Patricia Anne Thompson, is to have her own "one-man" exhibition of drawings at the Grand Central art galleries.

SEEK SAME RIGHT TO SUE AS MAN

Canadian Press
Toronto, April 26.—The Toronto Women's Liberal Association will protest to the Ontario government in an effort to have enacted legislation that will give to women the same redress as the present law gives to men in the case of matrimonial disturbances.

According to present law, a husband may sue a third party for interference in domestic peace but there is no redress for a wife under similar circumstances.

"BARBAROUS!" You say "INTELLIGENT!" Says your Dentist

It isn't being done, but it's one way to prevent "PINK TOOTH BRUSH"

A FRIGHTFUL blunder! A social crime! That is what you would naturally say about a scene like this. But your dentist regards it in quite a different light.

He knows that if we all gave our teeth and gums more exercise on coarse, raw foods, instead of eating only soft cooked foods, there would be mighty little talk about lazy, tender gums... about "pink" on the tooth brush.

Unheeded, "pink tooth brush" may mean serious trouble—gingivitis, Vincent's disease, or pyorrhea even. So guard against it in the modern way. Massage your gums with Ipana.

Brush your teeth with Ipana. Then each time rub a little extra Ipana into your gums. Ipana and massage help restore your gums to healthy firmness and to keep them healthy. Soon your teeth will sparkle, soon your smile will shine.

MAYORS COMING FOR JUBILEE BALL

Charles S. Henley is the organizing ability behind arrangements being made for the Silver Jubilee Cabaret Ball on May 6. With all the enthusiasm of which he is capable, he plans to make of it an occasion as colorful as the pageantry of the morning when government and military initiate the day of jubilation at the Parliament Buildings.

Already Mayor Charles L. Smith of Seattle has accepted Mayor Leeming's invitation to be present, as also has the Mayor of Tacoma.

Among other guests expected is Mr. Francis Paton, British Consul in Seattle. The crystal ballroom will be gorgeously decorated, the hotel orchestra augmented, and the floor number one of exquisite detail. Dinner parties and no host dinners are being planned prior to the ball. Summer dance gowns will have an opportunity to replace the velvet and satin of winter, for the season will be one of May Day gaiety.

But Edmonton Council Rejects Demand For Unrestricted Vouchers

Edmonton, April 25.—Refusing to submit to the terms of an ultimatum delivered by the Unemployed Mothers' Association, which carried the threat of a strike to start next Monday unless the demands were granted, the city council at a special meeting yesterday evening declined to grant any of the various demands and, instead, turned down the committee's recommendation of the finance committee for an unrestricted relief food voucher.

Before deciding to call another special meeting for next Monday, evening, the council authorized Mayor Clarke to write to the association, stating that the city is unable to meet the demands, and that the committee is authorized to make a further study of the situation.

Feeling the unemployment situation throughout the west, if not throughout Canada, was near a crisis, several members of the council, including Mayor Clarke, urged a conference of provincial premiers, as the situation had grown beyond the power of civic authorities.

Social Justice Union Growing

DETROIT, April 25.—The National Union for Social Justice, turned into a political force at a big rally directed by Rev. Father Charles E. Coughlin, faced the United States Supreme Court today, promising to drive the "plutocrats" out of public office.

Chicago, New York and Philadelphia are under tentative consideration by Father Coughlin and his associates as the next battle grounds in the organization of state units of the National Union for Social Justice. The organization was founded by two senators and four representatives from Washington, the Detroit priest pushed his union to the front as a definite political weapon against the Roosevelt administration. The stadium, filled to near capacity by 12,000 persons, set up a salvo of applause for him and his fellow speakers.

Priests in Supplications

Lourdes, France, April 25.—Fervent hymns of peace, taken up by 50,000 persons, re-echoed in the mountains ringing this picturesque town today as priests and pilgrims answered to the altar to lead the three-day supplications for goodwill among nations. Bishops, abbots and monsignors famous throughout the Catholic world came by one post train in celebrating the successive masses.

During the night-long supplications, a vast throng of pilgrims packed the open space outside the grotto where Saint Bernadette reported the apparition of the Virgin. Powerful candlelight illumined the entrance to the shrine, while all about gleamed the myriad lights of the basilica and other buildings of the "Capital of Miracles."

Many of the thousands of faithful who have flocked here from all parts of the world for the communion marking the close of the Holy Year slept on the ground outside the grotto. The accommodation in Lourdes and neighboring towns and villages were sufficient to shelter only a small part of the vast numbers of pilgrims.

The Rule of the
ENGLISH RAJAS

THESE generations of Englishmen have preserved the small English dependency of Sarawak, lying along the northwest coast of Borneo—and all three in the company of Rajah. Today, Charles Vyner Brooke is the Rajah Sarawak who rules Sarawak, just as did his father, Sir Charles John Brooke, and as did Sir Charles Brooke, Sir James Brooke had taken the title from Nuda Nuda, in 1912, when he succeeded in quelling the disturbances of the country.

All three Rajahs are pictured on stamps of Sarawak. The one shown is of the present ruler, Sir Charles Vyner Brooke, the only living Rajah.

Assumption Play Sparking Ball To Defeat Blue Ribbons

Eastern Champions Tie Up Canadian Cage Final With Surprise 44 to 21 Victory

THE SPORTS MIRROR

OF 196 recruits who went to training camps with major league clubs this spring 113, or almost 58 per cent, survived exhibition game eliminations.

Indications are that 85, or more than 43 per cent of the total number that ventured forth, still will be among those present on June 15, when the entries are required to cut rosters to twenty-three.

If this proves anything at all, it is that the younger ball game of to-day generally is not what he used to be, and that in many cases athletes of only ordinary ability now crash the big show without much difficulty.

Not One Member of Ribbons Reaches Double Figures in Score Column; Great Battle Expected in Third Engagement To-morrow Evening

Working their plays with machine-like precision, and playing 100 per cent, better than in their first appearance, Windsor Assumption College tied up their Canadian basketball final with the Victoria Blue Ribbons by taking the western Canadian title holders into camp.

Yesterday evening's result was a stunning blow to the 1,500 odd fans who had looked for the locals to take the series in three straight games after the first exhibition.

Cage Capers

By CAGE-DUSTER

Nice work, Assumption! You apparently won't on the assumption that Assumption is never discouraged by one bad beating.

This Jewish lad Moose Rogin, who picked off eight field goals, certainly knows his basket play. He had his "foot in the bucket" most of the night. Moose—Art Chapman was checking him. The Moose tossed in some nice shots. He is big and strong and hard to handle. Chuck Chapman took a turn at checking him, and then Doug Peden finished off the job. The way Peden "nursed" him gave the fans a laugh, and Referee Perrin finally figured he had better stop the pair and awarded each a free throw. Rogin got no baskets when Peden was looking over his shoulder.

Rogin, who is 200 pounds in his undies, had a head-eye Dick yesterday evening. He was awarded six free throws, and caged the whole half-down. He takes his time about the job. As a matter of fact Assumption College never seem in a hurry about anything. They are cool and deliberate, and whip the ball around until they can get an opening for a basket.

London Well Able To Support Fight

Walter Rothenberg Figures He Can Pay Max Baer $300,000 and Max Schmeling $100,000 for Heavyweight Championship Bout This Summer

London, April 26.—There is no good reason to believe that Greater London, with an estimated population of more than 9,000,000, is not capable of absorbing a championship fight between Max Baer and Max Schmeling in August.

Walter Rothenberg, German promoter, has promised Baer about $300,000 to defend his crown here, and presumably would have to hand Schmeling another $100,000. To say that London doesn't have that kind of money to spend is eye-wash.

If one is to believe his eyes, there is more loose money floating around England's capital than has been in evidence in any other world capital since the years before 1928.

Rothenberg, in outlining to the Associated Press his plans for the Baer-Schmeling bout, pointed out that he would have to sell out only 10,000 seats at $40 each to put himself in the clear on his guarantee.

The remainder of Wembley's 80,000 or 90,000 seats he would price moderately, ranging down to $1 for the distant sections.

Wembley buy 840 chairs in quantity? One can only look at the record: they pay $10 tops to see hockey games the average fan in Canada would not invest fifty cents to see, the calibre being far from first class.

For the privilege of sitting on hard pine boards for several hours on end and watching King George's Jubilee procession, May 6, many more than 10,000 persons have paid more than $40 each. Prices for choice seats range up to twice that figure.

Snookey Final Billed To-night

To-night at the Metropole snooker players will meet to determine the city snooker championship. The final will play a best four-out-of-seven-games series for a handsome trophy.

The fact and the figure, observers say, should not be taken too seriously. In the first place, England is getting in good shape financially. She is willing to spend her money for something that promises real entertainment. Baer is almost as well known here as in North America. Few real sportsmen would pass up an opportunity of witnessing a championship scrap.

THREE BOUTS STATES BAER

Will Fight Braddock, Louis and Possibly Schmeling and Then Retire

St. Paul, Minn., April 26.—Heavyweight champion Max Baer yesterday peered with his one good eye at the simple life and solemnly announced he would quit this "too tough" fight racket after three more titanic appearances. Max declared he would then abdicate the heavyweight crown in favor of his brother, Buddy.

With his left eye in swathing, Max came here to take on Babe Hunt to-night in another of those four-round no decision shows. The crepe was hung on Max's eye by Eddie Simms of Cleveland in just such an exhibition.

"Three more fights at the most and I will be able to say goodbye to the fight game," he beamed. "This racket is too tough."

First it will be Braddock. Then Joe Louis if he beats Carnera—then maybe Schmeling in England. These fights will give me enough money."

King Max retired Braddock with a nod. Then he dismissed the brown bomber. "I saw Louis fight. Why all this smoke about him? If I fight him in September in Chicago, I'll lick him as sure as I'm sitting here."

Giants "Big Four" Performing Nobly

New York National Baseball League Entry Gets Brilliant Pitching; Parmelee Holds Boston to Three Hits in 2 to 1 Win; Brooklyn Continues Streak; Detroit Tigers Drop Another

If New York Giants fail to finish at or near the top of the league standing—and their adherents stoutly maintain there will be no failure this season—it apparently won't be the fault of Bill Terry's pitching "Big Four."

The quartette already has made a highly promising start even though Fred Fitzsimmons has been belted out twice. Carl Hubbell has rung up two victories on three appearances: Hal Schumacher cut loose with a great three-hit effort Wednesday, and yesterday Roy Parmelee who failed to keep pace with the rest last season came through with a game that almost duplicated Schumacher's, to beat the Boston Braves 2 to 1.

Parmelee, whose previous appearance was in Sunday's tie game with the Phillies, also limited the Braves to three hits and lost a shutout because of a home run. Wally Berger caught one of the home runs in the seventh and rode it out of the park after Mel Ott had produced the two Giant tallies in a similar fashion, clouting his third homer with Manager Terry aboard in the fourth.

Brooklyn Dodgers retained the league lead on the strength of an outstanding mound performance by twenty-one-year-old Johnny Bahad, who pitched a complete game, shut out the Phillies to win 3 to 0.

Cincinnati's Reds hopped back into third place with a 6 to 0 triumph over the Pirates. The Cubs captured the pennant by blanketing the Cardinals 9 to 6. Dean and Dean combination, nicking Brother Paul for the deciding runs in a 7 to 5 triumph after having defeated Dixie in a similar relief role Wednesday.

The American League clubs went in mostly for heavy hitting, although Vernon Wilshire of the Athletics, and Johnny Brocas of the Yankees, made the prestige of the mound department. Wilshire blanketed the Senators with two hits as the A's won 10 to 0 with the aid of an eight-run second inning. Brocas hurled a less spectacular seven-hit game against the Yankees and the Yanks put on a similar rally, scoring seven times in the fifth to smother the Red Sox 12 to 4.

Another seven-run inning sent the White Sox along to their fifth victory in six clashes. The champion Sox, who are in the lead, won 9 to 0 against the Indians. The Indians captured the junior circuit lead by coming from behind to defeat the Athletics 7 to 4.

OARSMEN ARE LAYING PLANS

N.P.A.A.O. Regatta Definitely Set Here for July 12-13; Events on May 24

Staging of the annual regatta of the North Pacific Association of Amateur Oarsmen will take place at Elk Lake on July 12 and 13, according to an announcement made today by Arthur Cox. These dates have been definitely decided on. The regatta will be staged under the auspices of the N.P.A.A.O. Cox stated to-day the event promises to be one of the finest in the history of the association.

Rowing has been making rapid strides at Kelowna and the interior club will send down several first-class crews for the Victoria event. Portland has staged a revival in the sport and will be represented again. Victoria and Vancouver are working hard getting their boys in condition and some great competition is looked for at Elk Lake in junior and senior events.

In the meantime plans are going ahead for the holding of the regatta at the Gorge on May 24. Cox has received word from the Vancouver Rowing Club that they will send over eight oars a four, double and singles for the holiday programme. This will be the first time in history that an eight oared shell has appeared on the Gorge waters.

Another outstanding feature will be the appearance of about a dozen Indian war canoes in several events, arranged especially for the festival.

Stadium To-morrow

LEAGUE GAMES ARE SCHEDULED

London, April 26.—Strenuous training over two of England's classic teams, West Bromwich Albion and Sheffield Wednesday, are making final preparations for the world's greatest soccer event—the English Cup final—to be played to-morrow at Wembley Stadium.

Everything is in readiness at the great sports bowl, and 400 officials of the English Football Association will be delegated to the job of marshalling a crowd which is expected to number nearly 100,000.

If the weather is fine the King will witness the encounter from the royal box, and invitations have also been issued to Lord Derby, Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, secretary for the Dominions and members of the South African cricket team, who will shortly open their English tour. Representatives of the Dominions and the Colonies will also attend.

SPECIAL TRAINS
All transportation facilities will be employed to bring the crowds to the game. Birmingham and Sheffield will send the largest quotas. The railways will run 140 special trains, which are expected to carry more than 50,000 from provincial cities and from Scotland.

The Sheffield team traveled to London yesterday with all members fit. Wednesday will field its strongest team composed of Brown, Nicholls, Cooper, Wilson, Burgess, and Sumner. The latter is the only player who has previously played at Wembley.

The West Bromwich eleven will probably not be selected until to-morrow morning. Edwards and Ranky are both being considered for the left-half position. Midland enthusiasts are hoping Glendon and Carter will be in condition to turn out. The veteran forwards have played together in 300 league and cup matches for the Throstles.

PROBABLE TEAM
The probable team: Pearson, Shaw, Trentham, Murphy, W. Richardson, Edwards or Ranky, Glendon, Carter, W. G. Richardson, Sandford and Byrnes. In the event Glendon and Carter are unable to play, their places will be taken by Gale and Jones. The Wembley pitch is in perfect condition and resembles a mammoth billiard table.

Judging by the season's play, the tussle should be an even one. Both teams have won seventeen games, but the Albions have lost fourteen, against eleven defeats for the Wednesday.

Famous English Stallion Passes

Canadian Press
London, April 26.—Piermont caused the sudden death yesterday of one of the world's greatest stallions, Blanche, whose get set on all-time record for winnings on the English turf last season.

Up to the end of last season Blanche's stock was 201 races with a value of £102,000 (about $200,000).

Blanche died the Derby winner, York, 1929; Melbourne, 1930, and Windsor Lad, 1934. He also sired the great unbeaten French four-year-old Brantôme, who was foaled in 1919, by Ruyford, out of Blanche, Blanche was owned by R. C. Dawson.

the championship crown again held by Arsenal, interest in to-morrow's league battles lies largely in the doing of clubs seeking promotion and those in danger of relegation. Only a miracle can save Tottenham Hotspur from sinking to the second division. The White Hart Lane squad must win its two remaining games while Middlesbrough and Leicester City lose and then it will be a question of goal average. The Spurs meet the highly-placed Liverpool team in London to-morrow.

SECOND DIVISION
In the second division, West Ham United visit Bolton. Both teams are fighting hard in an endeavor to accompany Brentford into senior company and a win for the Hammers would practically decide the honor in their favor. At the other end of the table Oldham Athletic and Notts County can hardly hope to escape playing in the third division next season.

Defeating Aldershot on Easter Monday, Charlton Athletic made sure of promotion from the southern section of the third division.

Doncaster Rovers have a fine opportunity to win the championship of the second division. With four games still to play, they have a point margin over Chester.

Glasgow, April 26.—The long Scottish soccer season, which started August 11, comes to a close to-morrow. Once again the famous Glasgow Rangers emerge as champions and holders of the Scottish Cup, while Third Lanark and Arbroath won honors in the second division and next season will play with the top-flight clubs.

While in other sections clubs will be engaged in merely playing out the schedule to-morrow, five teams near the bottom of the premier division will fight desperately to avoid demotion. Falkirk cannot escape relegation. Others in a vulnerable position are St. Mirren, Albion Rovers, Ayr United, Dunfermline and Queen of the South.

MEET AT WHARF

Members of the Victoria United soccer eleven who are making the trip to Vancouver to play the New Westminster Royals are asked to meet at the C.P.R. ticket office, Belleville Street, this evening at 11.15 o'clock.

Babe Ruth Laid Up With a Cold

New York, April 26.—Babe Ruth, in with a bad cold, did not go to the Polo Grounds yesterday for the third and final game of the series between the Giants and the Boston Red Sox. Physicians advised Ruth to remain indoors until the cold improves.

LINKS TEAM NOW AT SEA

Canadian Amateurs, Including Ken Black and Dick Moore, Sail from N.Y.

New York, April 26.—Nine Canadian golfing amateurs of good standing sailed for Great Britain yesterday aboard the Empress of Australia, confident of making a creditable showing in the matches on their packed programme.

C. Ross "Buddy" Somerville, who could claim the title of Canada's most famous linkman if he were of that mind, is captain of the team that will compete in the British amateur as well as the historic St. George's Vase tourney, a number of friendly matches.

Excepting Fred Mohlitzel, Toronto veteran, the other members of the team are youths but none the less prominent in the golfing firmament. They are Gordon, Taylor and Ed. Innes, Montreal; Phil Parley, Toronto; "Bud" Donovan, Winnipeg; Ken Black and Dick Moore, Vancouver. Jack Nash, London, Ont., clubmate of Somerville, went along as a spare man.

Robert Jacobs, vice-president of the Royal Canadian Golf Association, accompanied the tourists. He voiced the hope that the trip would be the first of such annual goodwill golfing missions.

The team will return to Canada in time for the Dominion amateur championship at Hamilton, starting June 17.

RED DUTTON GIVEN POST

Signs Two-year Contract to Manage New York Americans Hockey Club

New York, April 26.—A spirit of optimism totally unknown to New York Americans Hockey Club activities in years permeated the atmosphere yesterday as Mervin "Red" Dutton, fiery defenseman, from Calgary, signed a two-year contract to manage the club amidst ballyhoo typical of major Gotham events.

Dutton signed with young Bill Dwyer, son of the club owner, other club officials and a swarm of newspapermen and photographers. Dutton, who has been called for a "substantial increase" in salary over the stipend he earned as a player when he drew the National Hockey League top of $7,500.

The Calgary redhead stipulated that E. R. "Boss" Helmer, prominent in Calgary hockey circles as coach of the Bronks of that city, aid him in rebuilding and directing the Americans. Helmer was appointed coach to handle the reins while Dutton plays on the defence. The latter threatened to become the third playing manager in N.H.L. history.

Appointment of Dutton leaves the immediate hockey future of "Red" Joe Simpson, manager during the last two campaigns, in a cloud of uncertainty. It is understood the Selkirk, Man., fisherman will continue in the employ of owner Dwyer in connection with the various race track activities of the Amer. owner.

Dutton will leave New York this week-end on a lengthy trip seeking new talent for the team that finished fourth in the Canadian section of the N.H.L. last season after threatening to gain a playoff berth early in the season.

Zaryoff-Colombo Wrestle to Draw

Vancouver, April 26.—Count George Zaryoff, Russia, and Count Colombo, Los Angeles, teamed for six rounds yesterday evening on the main event of a wrestling card here and ended all square with one fall apiece.

The count took the first fall in the fourth with a reverse body slam, but flying tackle and a body slam by Colombo flattened the Russian to even the count.

Ted "King Kong" Cox, New York, defeated Jack Ferguson, Vancouver, went the full route of their six-round struggle which ended in a draw. Each obtained one fall. Cox in the third with a body press and Ferguson with a Boston crab in the fifth.

Midweek Soccer Match Postponed
In order to give the boys an opportunity to see the basketball game yesterday evening, the Wednesday Soccer League fixture between the New and the Rangers, scheduled yesterday evening, was postponed until to-night.

BIG LEAGUE STARS OF 1935

The Phillies have been battling to become a first division team in the National League and this season they have some tried aids to help them do the job. Verger, upper left, and Ryan, lower right, came from the New York Giants. Wilson, upper right, and Davis, lower left, are holdovers from last season.

bump early in the first half, during a scramble under the Assumption basket, and was slowed up for the remainder of the evening. Twice he had to go off for a rest, and in addition his scoring ability was considerably reduced. He got only one point in the first game, with twenty-three points, contributed only six yesterday evening. He drew two personal fouls in the first half and was pulled up in the third time shortly after half-time, with the result he had to be careful the rest of the game. He didn't hit his regular stride all night, and it has been said many times before: "As Art Chapman goes, so go the Ribbons."

When it is pointed out that not one member of the Ribbons hit double figures in the scoring column, it is easy to see the club was not clicking. They were unable to work the ball in close, and did not battle to after rebounds. Furthermore the local players failed to watch their checks close enough. In the first game the locals guarded every Windsor player like a hawk, but several times yesterday evening men were left lapping under the Victoria basket, with the result that many clinch scores resulted.

PLAY TO-MORROW
Saturday evening will witness the playing of the third game, and it should be a battle royal with each team out to take the lead in the series. If both clubs are on top form the exhibition should be one of the finest ever witnessed here. Windsor will be confident after taking the second game while the Ribbons will be determined to redeem themselves after a bad performance.

Assumption scored nineteen field baskets and converted six out of nine free shots. Nine personal fouls were called on the visitors. The Ribbons marked up eight field baskets, converted six of twelve free attempts and five out of twelve line attempts and won the game.

Play opened with Art Chapman getting the first tip-off, which he made. Another clutch missed the opening shot of the game. Rogin took a fast pass from Aitchison and lifted the ball through the hoop over his shoulder. The score came after fifty-five seconds' play. Art Chapman brought the house down with one of his famous one-handers from well out on the sideline. Rogin worked in close once more and again found the iron with a one-hander. Aitchison fouled Art Chapman and the centre bungled both attempts. Chuck Chapman went into the bucket and one on a pass from Art Chapman scored to tie the count 4 to 4. Rogin was fouled by Art Chapman and made the throw good.

Aitchison raced under the Ribbons basket and Rogin's shot was perfect for a score. The Ribbons carried the offensive from the tip-off and scored a pass from Art Chapman to make up two baskets. Rogin took a fast pass from Aitchison and scored to tie the count 4 to 4. Rogin was fouled by Art Chapman and made the throw good.

Play resumed with Peden taking a pass from Art Chapman and looping in a one-hand push shot from the side. In a scramble under the Windsor basket, Martin was bumped and

BOUCHER GETS CUP FOR GOOD

New York Rangers' Hockey
Star Given Permanent
Possession of Trophy

Ottawa, April 26.—The Lady Byng Trophy, emblematic of sportsmanship in hockey and high ability to play the game, will rest permanently on the household mantel of Frank Boucher, centre ice-star of the New York Rangers.

Named by Tom Clancy, rather of "King" Clancy of the Toronto Maple Leafs, as "the greatest hockey player of all time in his position," the stocky, dark-haired Boucher, yesterday evening received the coveted trophy as his permanent possession.

The presentation was made at a banquet of Ottawa apartment men in honor of four other native sons who had played a prominent part in bringing the world hockey championship to the city. They were: Alex Connell, Allan Shields and Stewart Evans.

Seven times its annual winner, Boucher acknowledged warmly the gracious act of Lady Byng which gave him the trophy. He expressed his appreciation to Walter Gilhooly, sports editor of The Ottawa Journal, whose suggestion resulted in the kindly response of Lady Byng, who will replace the trophy with another.

Joe Louis Scores Twentieth Victory

Flint, Mich., April 26.—Joe Louis, "Brown Bomber" heavyweight from Detroit, knocked out Roscoe Toles, Toledo negro fighter, in the last round of their six-round bout here yesterday evening. Louis weighed 200 to 193 for Toles. It was Louis's twentieth consecutive ring victory since he joined the professional ranks and his fifteenth knockout victory.

son fouled Art Chapman and the centre bungled both attempts. Chuck Chapman went into the bucket and one on a pass from Art Chapman scored to tie the count 4 to 4. Rogin was fouled by Art Chapman and made the throw good.

Aitchison raced under the Ribbons basket and Rogin's shot was perfect for a score. The Ribbons carried the offensive from the tip-off and scored a pass from Art Chapman to make up two baskets. Rogin took a fast pass from Aitchison and scored to tie the count 4 to 4. Rogin was fouled by Art Chapman and made the throw good.

Play resumed with Peden taking a pass from Art Chapman and looping in a one-hand push shot from the side. In a scramble under the Windsor basket, Martin was bumped and the Ribbons called time out. Martin left the floor to be replaced by McKeechie. Assumption put on DeFord for Rogin, but after a couple of minutes "Joone" returned to the floor. Rogin and Art Chapman both got home. Art Chapman fouled Rogin away from his check to take a pass from Aitchison and add two points. Rogin was left unguarded under the hoop and a basket resulted. Sherman fouled Peden as he was going in underneath with the ball and the Ribbons guard made both shots good to make the score 17 to 12 for Windsor.

Meretky leaped up to push home a rebound and Rogin got another two points on a pass from Aitchison. The Ribbons substituted Wallis for Andrews. Art Chapman fouled Rogin as he was about to shoot and it cost the Ribbons two points. At the other end Art Chapman fouled Peden and the latter fouled Rogin. The Ribbons guard made both shots good to make the score 17 to 12 for Windsor.

SECOND HALF
Second half opened with Windsor in possession and they scored the ball around for two minutes before Nantais got away a long shot that was good. Art Chapman was pulled up for his third foul on Rogin. The latter got two points from the Aitchison made one of his push shots good, but Chuck Chapman discounted it with a beauty from far out. Andrews, who was charged by Rogin, dropped to one of two throws to make the scoreboard read, Windsor 31, Blue Ribbons 17. Aitchison got home another long one.

Meretky picked up a rebound and Windsor went two points further ahead. The same player made it 37 to 18 when he was left unattended in close. Nantais fouled Peden and the Victoria guard scored. Andrews took out Nantais as he was about to shoot but he missed both free shots. Two baskets by Meretky and Dejarlais gave Assumption a 41 to 19 margin.

Peden fought-in to grab a rebound and score. A double foul was called on Rogin and Peden with the former scoring and Peden missing. Harrison got his only basket of the game on a pass from Dejarlais, and that ended the scoring for the night.
